

Critical Section Solutions

Critical Section

- Explain what is meant by the term "critical section"
 - A "critical section" is code that must be executed without being interference from by other parts of the system
- Why is this important in multi-threaded programs?
 - A critical section represents code that will cause a data race
 - Unless the threads which execute in it are synchronized